Dear Parent/Carer

Re: Year 11 Subject Specific Parent Forums

We are planning to hold a series of subject specific parents' forums to provide you with key information, hints and tips with regard to supporting your child with their preparation for the exams at the end of this year.

The first of these events will be held during this half term to provide you with information about the year ahead and home learning. This will then be supported further with subject specific information to follow after Christmas. Each session will take place in A Hall from 6-7pm on the date listed below.

Session 1 Monday 29 November: The year ahead, exams and revision advice.

Session 2 Monday 6 December: The importance of home learning and its impact on learning.

Please can we ask that you complete the form below to indicate your interest in attending the evening. Please be aware that spaces may be limited on some dates so it is essential that you indicate your interest if planning to attend.

Please indicate by Sunday 28 November if you will be attending any of the evenings above.

From January we will be providing a combination of subject specific information sessions and power points that will include information regarding:

- Exam requirements
- Coursework and practical exam dates
- Home learning outline and description of links to supporting success e.g. exam question based coursework completion
- Important revision tips
- Support with using online revision resources.

A further email will be sent to all parents on our return in January to let you know how to access the subject specific sessions and online support using the Year 11 Google page.

Kind regards
